Steve Hui of iFLYflat

Steve is the Founder and CEO of iFLYflat - Financial Planning for points.

iFLYflat creates strategies helping SMEs and individuals to maximise their frequent flyer and credit card points earned from every-day spending. With these points, iFLYflat helps members to reduce their travel costs and to fly better.

Steve comes from an Accounting and Finance background, having worked as a senior finance executive for over 17 years at Macquarie Bank and other companies. He is also a CPA.

He turned his attention from solving complex problems in the corporate world of accounting and finance, to applying his financial expertise and structured processes to extract the best value from loyalty and frequent flyer programs.

Steve started iFLYflat after seeing many people confused and clueless about points. He is passionate about helping business owners and individuals to maximise their returns from their points and to enjoy their flying once again.

His motto, everyone can ‘fly the way they want’, be it first, business or even economy.
